cial and City government. The Act clearly defining the distinct roles and responsibilities of the Boston Police Department (BPD) from those of U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE).

“Updating the Trust Act is a step we take proudly as a city that allows us to continue leading with our values,” said Mayor Walsh. “Over the past few years, we’ve seen national rhetoric on immigration take an ugly and dangerous turn, even in an immigrant-friendly city like Boston. We need to take a stand, and this updated version will bolster trust in our communities and protect public safety. I want to thank everyone, especially the staff and advocates, who worked on this ordinance that will make our whole city stronger.”

The Boston Trust Act was originally signed into law by Mayor Walsh in 2014. The amendments build on the original ordinance, making clear the role of Boston Police officers, outlining how they will not ask individuals about their immigration status, share information with ICE, make arrests based solely on ICE administrative warrants, perform the functions of federal immigration officers, and transfer an individual to ICE custody. The revisions maintain an annual reporting requirement to the City Clerk and adds a requirement for the Boston Police Department to train all officers on these amendments.

“It’s the duty of the Boston Police Department to protect everyone in the City of Boston, regardless of who they are or what their immigration status might be,” said Boston Police Commissioner William Gross. “Our police officers do their level best to do their jobs correctly, professionally and with compassion. Everyone should have faith and confidence that Boston Police are here to serve and keep every person who lives, works and visits Boston safe.”

The amendments also distinguish between ICE’s two main divisions: the Enforcement and Removal Operations division (ICE-ERO) and the Homeland Security Investigations division (ICE-HSI). The Boston Police Department will not work with either division solely for civil immigration enforcement purposes, while continuing to work with the ICE-HSI division on matters of significant public safety importance, such as human trafficking, child exploitation, drug and weapons trafficking, and cybercrimes.

The updated ordinance furthers its original intent of ensuring that immigrants who live and work in Boston can trust the Boston Police Department, while preserving their ability and responsibility to serve and protect victims, hold criminal offenders accountable, and ensure public safety for all, including native and immigrant residents alike.

“This is a big victory for Boston’s immigrant communities,” said Eva Miliona, Executive Director of the Massachusetts Immigrant and Refugee Advocacy Coalition (MIRA). “We’re very grateful to the Mayor and the City Council, and to our fellow advocates, for putting an end to local involvement in civil deportations and restoring community confidence in police. Congratulations to all the stakeholders who worked so hard to achieve this highly significant advance. You have sent a powerful message that this city values and protects all Bostonians, no matter who they are or where they come from.”

Since the signing of the Boston Trust Act in 2014, the Boston Police Department has submitted an annual report to the City Clerk with the number of civil immigration detainer requests received. Reports from the Boston Police Department show that in 2017 and 2018, ICE lodged 68 and 107 civil immigration detainer requests respectively, which all were given access to bail by BPD and were not transferred to ICE custody. Those that did not post bail were transported to the court for arraignment, moving out of BPD’s authority. The updated ordinance keeps requiring the department to report this information, including the reasons for civil immigration detainer requests.

Since the start of the Trump Administration’s implementation of an immigration restrictionist agenda, Mayor Walsh has been opposed to proposed changes to the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) program, the termination of Temporary Protected Status (TPS) for individuals from multiple countries, the proposed redefinition of “public charge,” and HUD’s proposed rule to expel from public housing mixed-status families paying prorated rent.

The report cites a renewed interest in city living coupled with a decrease in unemployment as reasons for the unprecedented growth in Eastie as well as Boston.

“Unprecedented economic growth and renewed interest in city living the City of Boston continues to experience significant economic growth,” said the BMRB report. “The city’s annual unemployment rate decreased from 6.1 percent in 2013 to 3.0 percent in 2018, the most recent year with available data for this measure. Strong employment growth is projected to continue over the next decade.”

According to the report the Boston Planning and Development Agency (BPDA) predicts an increase of between 107,000 and 150,000 new jobs in Boston by 2026. In addition to new job creation, Boston has experienced wage growth exceeding state and national rates.

“From 2013 to 2017, Suffolk County residents’ per capita personal income (in fixed 2018 dollars) increased 13.7 percent from $66,582 to $75,711, outpacing both Massachusetts and the United States,” said the report. “Meanwhile, Boston has experienced a resurgence in city living and significant growth in population. From 2013 to 2017, the City added 39,976 residents, or 6.4 percent, to a total population of 669,158.”

In 2014, Mayor Martin Walsh Boston released his administration’s housing plan to increase the increase in demand for both market rate and affordable housing here and citywide.

“Housing Boston 2030, which projected that the city’s population will reach 709,400 by the year 2030, revised the projection upwards to 759,727,” said the report. “Favorable economic conditions and renewed interest in city living have been significant drivers of property value increases and, in turn, a critical source of revenue increases for the City through a growing property tax base.”

Property value increases in Eastie and Boston can also be attributed to both the increasing value of existing properties and the new development occurring.

“All of Boston’s neighborhoods saw a substantial increase in property values over the six years from FY13 to FY19,” said the report. “Increases ranged from 42.0 percent in West Roxbury and Roslindale (Ward 20) to 96.7 percent in East Boston (Ward I), 110.0 percent in Mission Hill

(Ward 10) to 181.0 percent in the rapidly developing Seaport (Ward 6).”

However, the report warns that maintaining prudent fiscal stewardship in this period of extraordinary development is essential to Boston’s resiliency through the ups and downs of economic cycles.

“Strong new growth, particularly over the last six years, is not a new normal, but rather a sign of Boston’s recent economic boom,” said the report. “Of the $134.2 million in additional property tax revenue in FY19, nearly 60.0 percent ($78.7 million) came from new growth. Boston’s new growth decelerates during an economic downturn, which limits the City’s revenue growth.”

As the City notes in its FY20 budget, “new growth revenue is volatile, and depends on the development cycle and the local, state and national economies.”

“Boston should keep a close eye on spending to ensure it has the ability to sustain quality city services and infrastructure, including commitments to address challenges around housing, transportation, education and equity, when the current pace of economic development slows,” the report concludes.

is lead, it will be replaced with copper to your property line,” said Salvatore. “If lead is found on the property you will be provided documents on the BWSC Lead Replacement Program.”

The contractor will install temporary paving as the work progresses. Permanent paving will be installed after 90 days.

Also, drain relay work will include the excavation and replacement of the existing storm drain on the streets. This work can be slow progressing down the street because of the depth of the drain being replaced. All drain connections will be reconnected to the new drainpipe.

The BWSC will also conduct water, sewer and drain work on Bennington Street from Walley Street to the Belle Isle Marsh; Swan Avenue from Palermo Street to Leverett Avenue; Leverett Avenue from Bennington Street to Lawn Avenue; Walley Street from Bennington Street to Waldemar Avenue; and Orient Avenue from Gladstone Street to Faywood Avenue.

Salvatore explained that when a sewer has minor defects, the pipe can be rehabilitated with ‘Trenchless Methods.’ The contractor cleans and televises the storm drain and confirms active services. A structural liner is fabricated for insertion and may take several weeks to arrive. Once the trenchless liner is ready, the contractor returns and inserts the liner through existing manholes. During this process a resin odor may be present. Upon completion of the liner, service connections are reopened from inside of the pipe and excavation is generally not required.

All together Salvatore said the work under these projects includes the replacement and enhancement of 5,740 linear feet of water mains, the replacement of 1,605 linear feet of sewers and storm drains and the rehabilitation of 2,305 linear feet of sewers and storm drains.

Salvatore said impacts include water service interruptions as well as traffic and parking disruptions.

“The contractor will have a moving work zone and will restore parking as the work progresses,” said Salvatore.

Salvatore also added that temporary paving will occur and permanent paving will likely occur in 2020.

A SHORT STORY ABOUT A HARD CURVE.
AND A HOME RUN.

Carol Truncali's story isn't just about how she prevailed through a severe childhood case of scoliosis, or curvature of the spine. It's about what she did when she grew up.

She became a nurse—a decision inspired by the support and dedication she received from her own medical team during her long years of treatment and successful recovery.

Carol Truncali's story leaves us with two of the most contagious messages we know: don't give up, and remember to give back. If Carol's story inspires just one more person to make a difference, then its telling here has been well worth while.

al land along the Chelsea Creek that his company owns.

At last week’s Orient Heights Neighborhood Council (OHNC) meeting, Citrin briefed residents on the parcels Cargo Ventures owns at 605 Chelsea St./160 McClellan Hwy, 230-370 McClellan Hwy and 440-480 McClellan Hwy.

At 605 Chelsea/160 McClellan Hwy site, Citrin told OHNC members his company would like to renovate the 605 Chelsea St. parcel into a 25,000 square foot office/retail space or light manufacturing space with associated offices. This would include a 2,200 car parking facility with an associated transportation center or 100,000 square feet of multi-service industrial space.

Citrin said this building would be used by existing park and fly operations on McClellan Hwy as well as airport employee parking. The industrial facilities would be occupied by airport-related businesses.

Over at 230-370 McClellan Hwy Citrin told the crowd there would be a phased renovation and expansion of existing 80,000 square feet of industrial space to a 600,000 square foot multi-story industrial space with offices and car parking. This site could also be used as a potential alternative to future airport park and fly operations and airport employee parking.

Then at 440-480 McClellan Hwy, Citrin said Cargo Ventures would develop 264,000 square feet of industrial and office space. The industrial facility would be occupied by airport-related business and general industrial companies that need to based in Boston.

However, Citrin said a key to the overhaul of this industrial stretch of land between the Chelsea Creek and McClellan Highway is the 1.1 mile long stretch of land along the Chelsea Creek. The land once served as the Conrail right-of-way, an old railroad route that stretched through the neighborhood during the late 1800s and early 1900s.

Back in July, if the state did not pull the ITB, Cargo Ventures would have developed the land to give the company’s truck drivers direct access to Logan Airport via the Marty Coughlin Bypass Road.

This, Citrin said at last week’s OHNC meeting, would remove nearly 1,000 vehicles currently serving Cargo Ventures industrial properties up and down McClellan Hwy from local roads.

Citrin explained that these airport related freight forwarding companies would have direct access to Logan, via an extension of the existing bypass road, without adding to the growing congestion on Route 1A South. Citrin also said the long term goal would be to encourage trucks coming down from points north of Eastie to also use the bypass road extension his company would provide.

“They did this, connecting tunnels and highways to a haul road in Southie with great success,” said Citrin.

Citrin said the unused stretch would be transformed into a haul road that connects to the Marty Coughlin Bypass Road for commercial traffic. The plan would include a harborwalk with waterfront access for residents with climate resilience features. Cargo Ventures is also willing to enter into a mitigation agreement with the community to fund community projects and community initiatives. Citrin said all this hinges on community support as well as Massport approval and MassDOT and MBTA consent.

HAPPY HOLIDAYS

This is a wonderful time of the year, to paraphrase the song, with holiday music playing in the malls and on our car radios, resurrecting our earliest childhood memories -- even for the younger set -- of Christmases-past.

We choose just the right tree, decorate it carefully with our family-heirloom ornaments, and when we first turn on the lights, it brings a smile even to the oldest among us.

Despite the hectic rushing to and fro', everybody it seems, is in a good mood. We endure the traffic, the long lines in stores, and more, because we know that what we are doing will bring joy and happiness to others.

For those of us with young children, we get to see Christmas through their eyes, giving us a second-chance to experience the wonder and joy that we felt when we were their age.

Although all of us celebrate the holiday season in our own way, the common thread is one of peace, joy, and happiness, regardless of religious or secular beliefs. Whether it be Christmas, Hanukkah, Kwanzaa, or a Seinfeldian Festivus, the spirit of the season imbues us with a sense of togetherness that transcends whatever negativity may exist both in our own lives and in the world around us.

We wish all of our readers a happy holiday season.

ENJOY THE HOLIDAYS -- SAFELY

Christmas this year is part of what for many people will be an extra-long weekend, which means that for many of us, we will be indulging in the "Christmas spirit" early and often.

By no means do we wish to cast negative thoughts, but we would be remiss if we did not remind all of our readers to enjoy the holiday season safely. This especially means that we should be careful not to drink and drive, nor allow our friends or family members to do so.

If someone appears to be under the influence, it is incumbent upon all of us not to let that person get behind the wheel of a car. Call an Uber if you have to -- if it is within our ability to prevent a tragedy, we must take the appropriate action.

MERRY CHRISTMAS ~ PEACE ON EARTH

GUEST OP-ED

Celebrating community this holiday season

By Martin J. Walsh

Merry Christmas, Happy Hanukkah, and Happy Kwanzaa, Boston! This is a special time of the year. It's a time to spread joy, spend time with family, and show kindness and generosity to others. While people in Boston celebrate many different traditions, we are all united by a love of community, and a commitment to building peace—in our neighborhoods, and throughout our city and the world.

The holidays bring out the best in our city. Our strength is in how we treat one another as neighbors. And when we are all working together to spread happiness and lend a helping hand to those in need, our city thrives.

Throughout December, I've been honored to help kick off the holiday season in many special Boston ways. We lit Christmas trees in every neighborhood in Boston, including the Boston Common Christmas tree with our friends from Nova Scotia (and special guest, Dolly Parton!). That same night, I joined Back Bay residents for the Commonwealth Avenue Mall lighting. As part of our annual Mayor's Enchanted Trolley Tour, we visited 16 communities to light Christmas trees, and highlight the importance of shopping local at Boston's many small neighborhood businesses.

My favorite part of the holiday season is giving back to the community. Knowing that we can make a child's day with a gift, or make a hectic season a little easier for parents, is a great feeling. I was excited to take part in many traditions of giving—from ringing the Salvation Army's bell in Downtown Crossing, to hosting AT&T's Holiday Phone-A-Thon which helps Bostonians call their friends and family abroad, to helping out at the United States Marine Corps Reserve Toys for Tots donation warehouse. I also had fun reading holiday stories to children and joining the Boston Police Department and hundreds of kids during their annual Shop With A Cop event. All of these experiences have certainly made my holiday season brighter, and I hope it helped make others' as well.

I encourage all Bostonians to find ways to get involved in their community and give back. Volunteering for a cause you believe in, or making a donation is a great way to make the holidays extra special. And if you have extra time, help out at a shelter or food bank near where you live. This time of the year can be especially tough for families struggling to make ends meet, and for residents who are experiencing homeless. During these long and cold winter months, it's important that we look out for one another and make sure people know their community cares about them. Together, we can show what it means to be a city of neighbors helping neighbors.

This holiday season, I'm especially grateful and honored to serve as Mayor of the greatest city on earth. I'm looking forward to all the great things we'll continue to accomplish together in 2020. I hope you have a safe, happy, and healthy holiday season, and I wish you the best in the New Year.

Martin J. Walsh is the Mayor of Boston.

Count our blessings for freedom of the press

By Melissa Martin, Ph.D.

We go about our daily lives in the United States of America. We read newspapers in the U.S. and via internet we have access to myriad newspapers around the world. But how often do we stop and consider press freedom? How often do we count our blessings when we peruse social media news outlets? How often do we show gratitude to journalists and people that bring us the news?

USA. The First Amendment, which protects freedom of the press, was adopted on Dec. 15, 1791, as part of the Bill of Rights.

UN. May 3 was proclaimed World Press Freedom Day the UN General Assembly in 1993.

According to 2017 report from Freedom House, a U.S. based nonprofit, only 13 percent of the world's population experiences a free press.

North Korea is identified as one of the most oppressive countries for silencing journalists and information via "harassment, arrest, torture or killing" according to a 2019 NPR article and Reporters Without Borders.

Read the following excerpt from Lee Kwang Baek, president of a press freedom newspaper in North Korea.

"Daily NK's mission is to remain your trusted source of news generated from within North Korea, providing timely and accurate information about one of the most repressive regimes in human history. The North Korean regime continues to violate the rights of the North Korean people, while threatening the international community with nuclear weapons and ballistic missiles...Daily NK directly supports a robust network of dedicated citizen journalists inside the country, who risk their lives on a daily basis to share news from the ground. In turn, we broadcast these reports back to the people of North Korea and the entire world. In doing so, we hope to advance the cause of freedom and give the oppressed people of North Korea the voice they deserve." www.dailynk.com.

Press Freedom in the U.S.

"When journalists are obstructed, so is the public's right to be informed and hold power to account. The United States has some of the strongest legal free speech protections in the world, and serves as a beacon for press freedom in a world where journalists are routinely censored, attacked, or imprisoned for their work. But the U.S. record is imperfect, and journalists and advocates must tirelessly defend the First Amendment in courts, in legislatures, and in the media. Constant vigilance and an honest accounting of the country's track record on press freedom are essential." www.freedom.press.

Threats to Press Freedom in U.S.

What is the U.S. Press Freedom Tracker? "The U.S. Press Freedom Tracker aims to comprehensively document press freedom violations in the United States committed by national, state, and local authorities, as well as by private individuals. These include: journalist arrests, assaults, border stops, camera and equipment seizures, surveillance orders, subpoenas, and more." www.pressfreedomtracker.us.

Will you stand up and defend press freedom in your hometown, state, and country? Will you stand up and defend press freedom for all countries on our planet?

This holiday season let us remember the journalists killed in the line of duty, both home and abroad and those falsely imprisoned.

Let us stop and count our blessings for press freedom in the United States of America.

Jr. Celtics a Slam Dunk at the East Boston YMCA

By John Lynds

For the past several months at the East Boston YMCA’s Ashley Street site, the Y has been partnering with the Boston Celtics and their Jr. Celtics Youth Development Leagues coaches.

This season participants were guided through instructional and recreational teams and have experienced an exclusive basketball program teaching the values of Celtics basketball. These values at the program focuses on healthy player and coach development.

East Boston YMCA Executive Director Joe Gaeta said the purpose of this program is to help encourage, support and improve the overall youth basketball experience.

“We aim to develop a lifelong passion for the game of basketball in youth by teaching them the fundamentals of the sport while instilling core values including teamwork, respect and sportsmanship,” he said.

Along with the core values of the Jr Celtics, Gaeta said he wants Eastie youth to achieve their goals, build community, and engage in positive encouragement.

Every weekend at the Ashley Street Y, youth deepen and strengthen their skills and confidence on and off the court.

“But most importantly, the community that is built between youth and between parents is the number one success of our program,” said Gaeta. “Whether a kid makes a basketball or misses, everyone in the room is cheering you on. We are not only nurturing future Celtics players but also nurturing children in our community who will become individuals with character.”

The program has been a huge success among parents who praised its positive outcomes.

“My daughter has enjoyed the Jr. Celtics session so much and really grown in her skills and confidence,” said Luisa, mother of 6-year-old Katerina.

Registration is now open for our Winter Session of Jr Celtics, which starts January 11. Scholarships are available. For more information please contact Carlos Fuentes at CFuentes@ymcaboston.org or 617-418-8328.

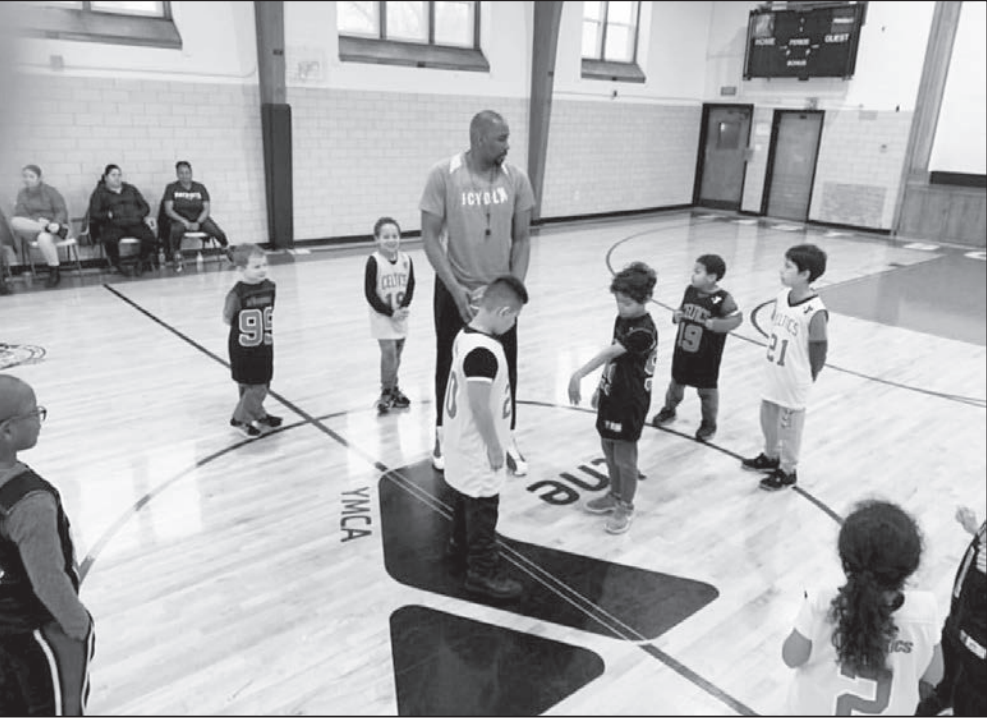

Last year the Boston Celtics and Sun Life Financial teamed up with the Y to revamp the Ashley Street gymnasium.

Participants run drills during the Y’s Jr. Celtics Program.

Each weekend youth deepen and strengthen their skills and confidence on and off the court.

26th annual Mayor’s Cup Youth Hockey tournament now underway

Boston’s top youth hockey teams are now meeting for the 2019 Mayor’s Cup Hockey Tournament that began with preliminary rounds December 15 and runs through January 5.

Hosted by the Boston Parks and Recreation Department with support from presenting sponsor the Boston Bruins Foundation and additional support from P&G Gillette, teams from throughout Boston participate in this citywide tournament to vie for the championship title in 16 divisions for boys and girls ages 6 to 14 (Mites, Squirts, Pee Wees, and Bantam). This year’s teams include Parkway, Dorchester, South Boston, Hyde Park, Allston Brighton, Charlestown, and Score Boston.

Championships will be held at local rinks throughout Boston including Warrior Ice Arena in Brighton with games at 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. on December 26 and December 27, Matthews Arena at Northeastern University on December 28, from 4 to 7:45 p.m., and the tournament finals at Boston College’s Conte Forum on January 5, from 8:30 a.m. to 6:45 p.m.

Support for the Mayor’s Cup Ice Hockey Tournament is also provided by the Massachusetts Department of Conservation and Recreation, FMC Ice Sports, Boston University, Northeastern University, Harvard University, and Boston College.

As part of the renovation project, the Celtics and Sun Life funded improved basketball hoops, a freshly sanded hardwood playing surface, a newly installed lighting system, wall graphics, and wall padding with Celtic logos and green paint.

As part of the renovation the Y joined the Celtics annual Fit to Win program. Fit to Win is a four-week community-based program that will help each Eastie ‘Y’ child embrace fitness exercises and healthy lifestyle habits. Each week, with the help of a motivational and instructional video from Celtics mascot Lucky the Leprechaun, the children learned new exercises and health-conscious habits to follow. Throughout each week the children tracked their activities and will be rewarded with Celtics-themed prizes.

Conductor Robert Lehmann and the NSPO were once again on the alter of St. Anthony’s Church on Revere Street last Sunday evening. PARTYING WITH THE BIRTHDAY PRINCESS

LEILA CELONA CELEBRATES 100 YEARS

Photos & Story by Marianne Salza

Winthrop resident, Leila Celona, shed joyful tears as family and caregivers gathered around her in songful celebration of her 100th birthday. Leila, wearing a “Birthday Princess” necklace, tenderly patted the cheeks of nurses and friends, graciously blowing kisses to her loved ones at her November 13th party at Neighborhood Pace.

“She is the kind of person who loves everybody,” described Leila’s son, Stephen, who received a kiss on the cheek from his mother after helping her open the envelope to her golden retriever puppy and kitten birthday card. “She has a great personality. Everyone who meets her never forgets her.”

State Representative Adrian Madaro presented Leila with a certificate of congratulations from the House of Representatives in recognition of the happy occasion and long life of achievements and memories.

Leila was born September 16, 1919, has three children -- Josephine, Stephen, and Nunzio – and eight grandchildren. She has had the same best friend since she was five-years-old, Katie Berinado, of Eagle Hill, in East Boston.

She was an oil painter, sketch artist, and talented seamstress, sewing her own curtains and bedspreads, and transforming everything she touched into a piece of art.

“When I got married, she made my wedding gown and beaded it by hand. And she broke her arm and was in a cast,” boasted Leila’s daughter, Josephine, who fondly recalled her friends visiting to drink coffee and play cards with her mother

Stephen and Josephine feel blessed to have their mother with them, and remember their home being filled with music and people during the holidays. Leila loved to sing with her late husband, Steve, who passed away at the age of 92. Steve was a professional musician and he and Leila adored singing with one another; even writing a song, “Bundle of Charms,” when their daughter was born.

“She and my dad were very close,” described Stephen. “They had a great life. They were beautiful together.”
